

KIDOSAURUS PARTIES – FAQs

How far in advance should I make a booking?

We recommend at least three weeks in advance, but we are also happy to take last minute booking requests! Subject to availability.

How many people can attend the party?

The minimum number to hold a party is 12 with a recommended maximum of 30.

What age are parties appropriate for?

We recommend our parties are most suited to children 4-11 years. However, we are happy to take bookings for kids of any age!

Do we need to pay for all adults and children attending the party?

Only children attending are required to be charged for (provided you meet the minimum of 12 guests). Accompanying adults are not charged or catered for, and will receive a complimentary coffee or tea. We set the Kids Zone for the number of guests charged and catered for. Accompanying parents are welcome to stand, and still attend the Professor Flint Tour (if applicable).

Do you require a deposit?

We don't require a deposit. We simply ask you to complete and send off the booking form to kidsparties@samuseum.sa.gov.au. One of our friendly event managers will contact you to discuss your request and then a confirmation email will be sent to you.

When are final numbers + final payment required?

One of our friendly event managers will contact you three days prior to your party booking date to confirm the final guest numbers and take your final payment (payments are made over the phone via credit card).

What is included in the 'kids' zone'?

A dining area and seating is provided for all children. Coloured party hats, plates, cups, cutlery and napkins are provided. Dinosaur colouring activities are also provided.

When is catering served?

Catering is served on arrival, and you are asked to cut the cake 30 minutes after. The Professor Flint tour (if applicable) commences one hour after the party start time. The Kids Zone is available on arrival, for a total of one hour, after which, the Professor Flint tour commences (or self explore).

Can we bring our own birthday cake?

Yes please! We do not provide cake, so we encourage you to bring a birthday cake and candles for the day. As part of both package options, we will provide complimentary cutting and service for you.

Can we bring additional decorations for the 'kids zone' and table?

You are welcome to bring additional items to decorate your kids zone – such as lolly bags etc. Helium balloons and sparkler candles are NOT PERMITTED inside the Museum due to the risk of setting off fire or security alarms. Normal birthday candles are permitted.

What time should we arrive?

Guests are welcome to arrive 15 minutes prior to the party start time to ensure everyone is seated for when food service commences. The family is welcome to arrive 30 minutes prior to the start time to facilitate any set up and delivery of your birthday cake.

Where do we enter?

Please enter through the South Australian Museum front entrance, via North Terrace, and make your way to level 2 via the lift. The Kids Zone is located on this level.

What role does Professor Flint play in the party?

Professor Flint is a much loved and fantastic addition to any birthday party held at the South Australian Museum. Dressed in full character as a singing palaeontologist, he will personally take your party on a wonderful tour of the Museum like you have never experienced before!

Is there parking at the South Australian Museum?

No, there is no onsite car parking at the Museum. There is paid parking on the streets surrounding the Museum, such as Kintore Ave. The closest secure parking is with Wilson Parking (located directly opposite the Museum) at 215-225 North Terrace, Adelaide.
